THE GOOD WAY!

A Notable Meeting of Business Men at the Courthouse.

THE RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

The Maysville All 'Round Y. M. C. A. An Assured Success.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

About 200 business men and young men assembled at the business men's conference in the interest of the Young Men's Christian Association work in the Courthouse Sunday afternoon.

Mr. William H. Cox was elected Chairman and Mr. Allan D. Cole Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Henry E. Rosevear, State Secretary, addressed the meeting upon the advantages to the business community of a well-equipped Young Men's Christian Association, influencing as it does in a most practical manner the life and character of our country. Mr. Rosevear spoke of the successful canvass for membership which the young men had accomplished during the past three weeks under the direction of Mr. H. W. Ulrich, securing the names of 300 young men, who will pay $5 each for membership privileges in the Association for a year. He estimated that the cost for the first year would be $3,000. This would embrace the expenses of equipping and furnishing suitable quarters for the fourfold work of the Association, also the current expenses for the first year, including the salary of a competent General Secretary, to give his entire time to the work.

The following resolutions were presented by Mr. John Duley and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, There are in Maysville at least 1,000 young men filling our shops, stores and offices, containing our industries, and by their habits giving character to our community; and

WHEREAS, There are numerous places of vicious resort, more or less attractive, open at all times, patronized in large part by these young men, and drawing their revenue largely from them, with no place of counter resort where opportunity is afforded for physical, social and mental culture and wholesome surrounding; and

WHEREAS, The Young Men's Christian Association, as at present organized in large numbers of the towns and cities of our country, is practically supplying such a need; and

WHEREAS, The young men of Maysville have earnestly and in a substantial manner requested the establishment of such an Association in our city; therefore, be it

Resolved That we favor the organization of such an Association in Maysville, to embrace the following features:

1. Physical.—A well-equipped gymnasium, with baths and instructions and outdoor sports in season.

2. Mental.—A reading-room, supplied with the best current literature, educational classes in practical branches and course of plain talks and lectures.

3. Social.—Parlor and reception room well furnished, provided with games and music and social receptions.

4. Religious.—Young men's meeting, Bible and training classes for those who desire them.

5. Management.—The whole to be in charge of a competent Secretary, under the direction of a small Board of Managers of business men, who shall have control of policy and finances.

Resolved, That we pledge to such Association, if it be organized, our hearty sympathy and material support.

Mr. G. N. Bierce of Dayton, O., a prominent manufacturer of that city, and who has for many years been actively connected with the work of the Young Men's Christian Association, delivered a most interesting and forcible address. He said that the greatest asset of any community was its young men; that their development physically, intellectually, socially and spiritually was of paramount importance, and that there was no agency so well fitted to provide for the manifold needs of the young men as the Young Men's Christian Association. He said that the Association represented the united effort of the churches and the community for the all-round development of young men. Mr. Bierce cited many examples of the Association being a most practical and dividend-paying investment for business men. He believed the business men of Maysville could do no better thing at the present time than to liberally provide the means for establishing a well-equipped and well-administered Young Men's Christian Association.

From 800 to 1,000 people crowded the Baptist Church at the union meeting Sunday night.

The audience was a magnificent demonstration on the part of the community of the interest taken in the young men of Maysville and the work of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. William H. Cox presided, and after prayer by Rev. W. O. Cochran and the reading of Scripture by Rev. E. L. Shepard, State Secretary H. E. Rosevear gave an address on the work of the Association. He spoke on the relation of the Association to the Church, and mentioned some of the substantial features of strength of the organization throughout the land, in point of membership, buildings, financial support and adaptation and comprehensiveness in its work. He expressed his confidence that the citizens of Maysville would not fail to respond to the appeal being made to equip and maintain an efficient work for the young men of the city.

Mr. G. N. Bierce followed with an address on the advantages to the various classes in the community of such an organization and work as the young men of the city had desired and it was proposed to establish.

The Chairman announced a committee, consisting of Messrs. W. W. Ball, J. F. Barbour, H. C. Sharp, M. F. Marsh, W. R. Warder, J. James Wood, John Duley, D. C. Hutchins and William Wormald, to canvass the city for the $2,000 needed in subscriptions in addition to the amount already given by the young men to provide for the first year's work and equipment.

Mr. Rosevear will remain several days this week co-operating with the Finance Committee in its work.

Simon S. Hartman of Tuncun, Va., has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would have to call a doctor and then suffer for about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. He says: "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. That is more than any other else has ever done for me." For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

CARTER CAVES.

Report That the C. and O. Will Purchase Them.

FOR ENLARGING OLIGONUNK.

It is reported that the C. and O. Railroad Company is negotiating for the Carter Caves property in Carter county.

There are five caverns of immense size on the property, besides a natural bridge that is said to surpass that of Virginia in size and grandeur.

It is one of the most picturesque spots in Kentucky.

It is the purpose of the C. and O. Company to connect this property with their summer resort—Oligonunk—at Carter City by an electric line if the deal is consummated.

Carter Caves are about five miles South of Oligonunk.

Not to Be Trifled With.

From Cincinnati Gazette. An accident never leaves a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied. There is no knowing where the trouble will end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little in judicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are today countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and were therefore neglected. When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

CHURCH LOTTERY.

Methods of Raising Money in Olden Times.

BEATS THE "OYSTER SUPPER"

Some friend has kindly laid upon THE LEADER a piece of a fragment of a Philadelphia paper printed in 1808.

It contains some curious advertisements, among them several Acts of Congress approved by THE Jefferson, then President of the United States:

But the quaintest of all is the following, which we give as nearly in its original form as we can make it.

To those of our Church folk who resort to raffish and fish ponds and single oyster in the fifty-cent plate of dish-water—suppers for the purpose of raising money for religious purposes, we commend the straight-forward and business-like methods of the good old Baptist Brethren of the Quaker City:

DIED SUDDENLY.

But Then His Taking Off Was Not Wholly Unexpected.

Washington Star.

A Washington man, who has recently returned from a six months' visit in the great and growing state of Texas, was talking to a Star reporter the other evening over a bottle (carafe) of Potomac water. The writer was chewing on a mouthful of it with more or less satisfaction, when the other man was reminded of a story.

"During my stay in Texas," he said, "my business called me off to the Northwest, where original customs prevail yet to a great extent. One land case in which I was interested depended largely on its successful handling in finding a certain man from Massachusetts, who had come out there a dozen years before, and I was asking a Justice of the Peace about him."

"Ain't never been a man out here by the name of Jenkins from Massachusetts that I've known," he said.

"Haven't you ever had any people from that state?" I inquired.

"That was one about seven years ago."

"What was his name?"

"Dunno. We just called him Beanshooter Bill for short."

"What became of him?"

"He died sudden."

"Ah, that's bad. Death unexpectedly is such a shock to a community."

"Well, yes, I reckon it is," he admitted, with slowness and precision. "But, you see, Beanshooter's wasn't exactly unexpected."

"No? I exclaimed in surprise. 'I thought you said he died suddenly.'"

"I did," he hesitated, "but, you see, it wasn't exactly unexpected. He had stole a horse."

Whisky is the devil's main hold.
The liquor maker is the devil's right arm.

When Satan gives over luring men to destruction and perdition there will be time to acknowledge that men who are engaged in the hellish traffic of whisky in any way stand up for a man in heaven.

The man who makes or sells liquor and poses as a Christian belongs "good devil" even times to where he hollars "good Lord" come.

What presumption for a man to preach righteousness to who has, perhaps, a family of brothers behind him manufacturing the fire of hell-liquor.

If a man will make or sell liquor vice is the old-fashioned kind that makes no pretensions to holiness, or righteousness, or sanctification or holiness in any form, shape or description.

THE DEVIL ON THE RUN
HESKONVILLE, Ky., March 18th.

Dear Lodge: My love for my home town compels me to sound this alarm. Rev. Martin Luther, Pastor of the Seventh Street Presbyterian Church, Chicago, Ill., just closed a nineteen days meeting here in the town of Hustonville.

The like was never known in this community—overload meetings every night. Twenty were added to the Presbyterian Church and ten to the Christian Church; and others yet will come to Christ.

Yet the wave is still on! Fifteen young men have organized a band of Christian workers under the name of Martin Luther Christian Workers. Finally this will result in a Y. M. C. A.

The young ladies have also a band numbering twenty five. The C. E. S. Society has increased from six to thirty-seven.

We have also organized a Junior C. E. Society, and the cold and indifferent Church members and the back sliders who have reconsecrated themselves at our meetings will number over one hundred, and in many cases this means first conversion.

We have driven the devil out of town, so to be on the alert.
My love for my old home town compels me to sound this warning. Have "Doug" and "Barney" to keep a watchful eye.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors recommended a local remedy, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has shown Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for anyone who can cure a case of Catarrh, and for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. DEMOCRACY!

What Led Up to Recent Events at the State Capital.

GOVERNOR BRADLEY RIGHT!

The Action of Judge Hazelrigg Is Most Severely Censured.

MUCH FOOD FOR THOUGHT

There is no greater disservice to the state than the frequent outbreaks of mob violence and the general prevalence of the spirit that tolerates the mob.

Where laws are just and where they are enforced rigidly and promptly there is rarely an appeal to the mob; the public awakes with calm assurance the execution of the law.

But where the public has learned to distrust law, where it has seen one criminal after another cleared upon a mere pretext, or where it has known some aggravated crime to go unpunished month by month, and year after year, there is nothing more natural than for public indignation, at some murder or other violence, to find expression in a mob and satisfaction in the decrees of Judge Lynch.

The result of this action and reaction on the public mind has been a growing disregard of the law in all of its relations, the tolerance of violence, and reliance on individual prowess for self-protection.

It was this spirit that countenanced the outrages in Frankfort during the whole of the late session of the Legislature. It was a spirit utterly at war with organized society, and in this case utterly destructive of representative Government.

At the Capital violent men were gathered, proposing to prevent the representatives of the people formally expressing the will of the people. It seemed at one time as though there was but one escape from the intolerable condition of affairs existing at Frankfort, and that was a collision between the aggressors on the one side and the members of the Legislature on the other, who found that self-control and forbearance simply inflamed their opponents.

For a month no careful observer would have been surprised at an outbreak in which a half dozen men would have lost their lives. A score of men at Frankfort during that period would testify that this condition largely prevailed. It was this condition of affairs that justified the Governor in his course; a course which brought peace, restrained those intent on violence and secured the representatives of the people absolute freedom of action.

It was this turbulent condition of affairs which made the course of Judge Hazelrigg so astounding. A Judge on the highest bench of the state for weeks had remained silent in the face of threatened violence, who yet, when the action men of the Governor had made violence impossible, had attended a mass meeting and denounced in extravagant terms the Chief Magistrate of the state.

How is it possible to maintain law throughout the commonwealth when men, clothed with such dignity and power as falls upon the Judge of the Court of Appeals, countenance such acts of violence? Judge Hazelrigg and all Judges on the bench know that the danger in Kentucky is not from the militia, but from the mob. The records of every Court will show that society in Kentucky is menaced by violence, and not by power.

Nothing in the whole ten weeks at Frankfort will now, or can hereafter, seem so astounding as that a Judge on the highest bench should take the position taken by Judge Hazelrigg on Monday, or that all of the Judges, acting jointly as the Court of the highest appeal, should manifest a fear of interruption to their deliberations because of mob violence.
